

Tulips in December

Contributed by Cornelio
 Tuesday, 22 January 2008
 Last Updated Tuesday, 22 January 2008

Only in flower shops and greenhouses will you find tulips in December. I believe they generally start growing in Spring and bloom then until early Summer.

There is a thing about flowers in Flower shops that I find odd. They are all so perfectly "the same" and all so beautiful -- just cut at the right time -- quite different from the diversity you will find in a bed of roses, or any flower, for that matter.

I like to see a bud, before its promise is about to become, alongside all those at various stages of becoming what they were meant to be. And, having seen the beauty of such a flower, even its demise, -- once its role in the life cycle is done - is worth watching. You remember what once was....

Comments wilmack says:

nice one!

I give you a From the FLOWER-POWER Group
 Posted 13 months ago. ( permalink | delete )

Gorgeous.....I love tulip's
 Happy New Year..
 Posted 13 months ago. ( permalink | delete )

caught my attention, i love tulip, i also saw a tulip here in a flower shop, but can't buy them, because they were quiet expensive.

Can't wait to see my own tulips blooming next spring time
 Posted 13 months ago. ( permalink | delete )

Beautiful!
 The World Through My Eyes
 Posted 13 months ago. ( permalink | delete )

Thanks Wilmack. I joined Flower Power, because of you.

PJP: A Happy New Year to you too. Thanks for visiting.

moemoechi: Yeah, I always like the simplicity of the tulip. When I get a good macro lens, I will try to explore it more.

AnaB: Thanks for visiting. I am glad you like it.

I cannot fully compose this shot because of the constraint of the flower shop in the supermarket, this section of the flower shop -- where they kept their more delicate flowers and displays -- was just a small glass encased section only slightly larger than our bathroom. And, with all the price tags, that I did not want to reveal, the composition was constrained.

Posted 13 months ago. ( permalink | delete | edit )

Beautiful flowers and great captured!

I wish you Happy New Year!
 Posted 13 months ago. ( permalink | delete )

Wazka: Thanks and a Happy New Year to you too.
 Posted 13 months ago. ( permalink | delete | edit )

Thanks for the fave, Diamonds.
 Posted 13 months ago. ( permalink | delete | edit )